

A St. Thomas guest reported an attempted jacking to the St. Paul Police Department Ramsey County Dispatch Center called and notified Public Safety of the incident. The attempted jacking occurred on 1/16/2023 around 6:30 PM.

The St. Thomas guest reported after dropping off their kid for daycare while returning to their vehicle where they were approached by a suspect demanding to give them the keys to their vehicle. The St. Thomas guest ran to a nearby vehicle and requested the emergency services. The suspect fled back to their vehicle and drove away in an unknown direction of travel. There was no mention of a weapon being brandished or threatened.

The suspect was described as skinny, built to 59, wearing a face mask, and all black clothing. The vehicle he exited and entered was described as a black Mercedes crossover with a partial Minnesota license plate DWF. The vehicle was occupied by at least two suspects.

The University of St. Thomas believes that descriptors alone are not a valid reason to profile or cast suspicion on any individual. They are included here because they may reasonably assist in identifying the perpetrator of this incident.
